Big Railroad Purchase

Up to about a year ago the Virginia Midland Railroad was without property in this city necessary for the transaction of its rapidly growing business. Along in 1889 the road bought the irregular piece of ground bounded by E. Twelfth, Water and Thirteenth streets southwest, from Johnson Brothers. On this they erected their shops and a freight depot.

Since then the road has been quietly buying up other real estate in the same section. The land is required for yard purposes, sidings and so on. Believing that if the holders of the land knew that it was wanted by the road, they would send the price in search after Gilderoy's famous hunt, Mr. Robert Porter, the Alexandria brewer, has been the chief hunter.

Mr. Porter owns the irregular piece of ground contiguous to the Long Bridge and fronting on Maryland avenue and Twelfth street. On this piece of ground the Midland has a round-house. It is a square round-house. Outside it on the same lot is a turntable. Mr. Porter has considered the policy of erecting a brewery in this city, and, as he has retained the ownership of this piece of ground, it is thought he will eventually build a brewery upon it. As this is it may be he has recently completed the purchase of the Midland, for the irregular block of ground bounded by Maryland avenue, Twelfth, E and Thirteenth streets. A part of this block, facing on Maryland avenue and Twelfth street is covered with dwelling houses, there being a grocery at the corner. The occupants have been notified to vacate the house. The road will then tear the buildings down and convert the ground into a railroad yard.

The road also wants the block just east of the one described, i.e., the one bounded by Maryland avenue, Eleventh, D and Twelfth streets. This is built up all along Maryland avenue and a part of the Twelfth street front and down E eighth and Ninth to an alley. The remaining part of the square is occupied by dwelling houses facing on D street.

Mr. Porter has just bought Church's lumber-yard, as it is described above. This purchase is for the road. Of course it will take the rest of the square.

It is possible that all the property along Maryland avenue, at least on the south side, from Sixth street to the river, will in time be owned by the railroads and used for their business. The Midland is getting its share now, and its method of acquiring it is a shrewd one.—Wash. Critic.
